As I See It . . .

By DR. C. M. SHIPP

There are a few diseases that afflict man and the lower animals. These diseases are exchanged between the two groups. In this group, the most violent disease is Rabies. All warm blooded animals can and often do contract rabies.

This disease is easily transmitted rapidly among all domestic animals, including the rodent family, which consists of small fur bearing animals. In the rodent family the disease can be controlled only by destroying the animal, for it would be impossible to vaccinate in this group.

For many years we have had a small-ringing epidemic of Rabies prevalent everywhere among rodents.

The chief offender in this group is the fox animal with keen perception, possessing all the qualities his name implies. The Rabies situation is getting out of hand in this rodent group.

The infection started in the middle lower counties north of Hancock and is slowly spreading south. It was anticipated that the disease itself would spread quickly and rapidly kill out the fox population. However, this has not occurred. These small animals have infected quite a number of our domestic farm animals, especially dairy cattle, and it has become necessary to destroy the fox.

This can be done by two methods: by poisoning or trapping. It would be dangerous to use a violent poison indiscriminately because other animals would become involved. Violent poison respects no living thing. The Hancock County officials have decided to trap the fox. However, this program requires the services of an expert of a well trained person.

Several counties are now paying a bounty of $2.00 per fox to any person bringing a fox tail to the Health Department as proof for this claim. A representative of the Federal Government will visit Hancock County the week beginning March 8th to demonstrate the method of trapping in several communities in the County.

If this control plan is successful, people in the various communities must take part in the program of setting traps.

The County will provide sufficient number of traps, bait, and other necessary equipment and pay a bounty of $2.00 per fox trapped.

We must either destroy the fox or permit the fox to destroy our game life which is rapidly disappearing in this County. So you see we have two objectives in this program.

GULF

Royalties and Lease Rentals
Boost Mississippi Incomes

GULF is paying regularly over $3,000,000 per year directly to more than 5,500 Mississippi landowners. This sum represents royalties on GULF oil and natural gas production, lease bonus payments and annual rentals on land leased by GULF.

In many cases, landowners now are gaining income from acreage which yielded little in crops. Consequently, this acreage was of small value before GULF leased it for oil development purposes. In all cases, land leased by GULF . . . whether or not currently productive of oil or gas . . . is bringing regular income to Mississippi landowners.

These are "new" dollars . . . dollars which add purchasing power and ring cash registers all over Mississippi . . . dollars which are helping to maintain the growth rate of Mississippi's expanding economy.

GULF is proud that its royalty and lease rental payments, along with its payroll, taxes, supply purchases and other expenditures . . . now totaling more than $120,000,000 . . . constitute a vital factor in Mississippi's economic progress.

NEW TRANSMISSION LINE FOR MISS. POWER CO.

A new 54 mile, 110,000 volt transmission line between Gulfport, Lumberton and the Alabama line, has been completed by Mississippi Power Company. S. L. Muths, vice president and general manager of the company, announced today. The line's eastern connection with the Southern Company's interlocking system is at Alabama Power Company's 150,000 kilowatt Plant Barry near Mobile. It will provide additional capacity for the Gulfport and other areas and will further strengthen the company's transmission network.

The new line, which has been under construction for several months, also ties in at the Mississippi Power Company's 110,000 volt substation at Lumberton, providing efficient service of power for that area. Another major project is the installation of equipment at a new automatic switching station at Wade, north of Moss Point. The Wade station on the original Gulfport-Mobile transmission line is in effect a tie transmission crossroad with 110,000 volt lines north to Lumberton, south to Moss Point, east to Mobile and west to Biloxi, Gulfport and the company's interlocking system at that point. Remote control equipment is being installed at Wade, Biloxi, Gulfport, Bay St. Louis and Picayune 110,000 volt substations. With this "supervisory control" equipment the operator at the Gulfport substation can determine the location of switches at any of the other substations and promptly operate switches and can locate the best possible transmission service under the existing conditions.

Installation of this equipment is also being made on transmission lines in the other parts of the company's area. This "supervisory control" equipment is operated by placing order frequently impulses in the 110,000 volt power lines between the substations. The impulses are then "filtered out" from the other power and directed to the switch or device that it is desired to operate or control. When any operation is completed, the device returns to a signal to the control board to show the operator at all times, the operating position of these distant switches and devices.

This new line will not only furnish additional electricity to southeast Mississippi but, with the switching station at Wade, and supervisory control equipment at Gulfport, Biloxi, Wade, Bay St. Louis and Picayune 110 Kv substations, will improve transmission service throughout the area. It is insurance that will help decrease power interruptions which might be caused by failure of one line. Switching will be done by supervisory control rather than by hand and in the event of trouble on these lines this will reduce interruptions to a minimum," Mr. Muths said. "Under ordinary circumstances we have few transmission failures," he pointed out, "but since electricity is so vital to the home, business and industrial life of the area, we continue to provide every safeguard."

Sellers Ec Students See Appliance Demonstration At Coast Electric Friday

Miss Jean E. Holzer, Home Economist for Coast Electric demonstrated the electrical appliances in the demonstration kitchen for the Sellers students who spent Friday in the demonstration kitchen. Demonstration included a complete oven meal, deep well meal in the electric range. A braised meal was demonstrated in the electric range using the braiser attachment. The coffee-maker, deep-fat fryer and mixer were demonstrated in preparing the meal. Some frozen food was used to show the advantages of a home freezer, and the cooking of frozen food. The proper materials and containers to package foods for the freezer were shown. Vegetables were blanched and packaged and meat was properly wrapped for the freezer.

The laundrying of clothes in the automatic washer and dryer was demonstrated. Linens were ironed on the ironer to show the speed and efficiency of an ironer.

A bedspread was dyed in the automatic washer. Another demonstration is scheduled for the students from Dadeaux this week. Other students will be coming in for demonstrations later.

See South Pacific
Members of the cast of "The Gypsy Troubadour" an operetta recently given by high school students of Pass Christian, had an enjoyable outing last week when they made a trip to New Orleans to see "South Pacific." They were accompanied by their director, Mrs. T. J. Broadus, and an other teacher, Miss Olive Blair.

Those attending the stage play were: Nancy Robinson, Sue Ashford, Mary Beth Dubuison, Ann Ashford, Mary Lively, Catherine Webb, Jimmy Allen, Bruce Stewart, Jerry Scott, roll John Boys, Freddie DeMetz and Mary Catherine McDonald, Diane Herschel Dubuison.

Letters Testamentary on the Estate of John E. V. YOUR HOBBY COLUMN

Thinks Loving Everything and Everyone Makes A Most Interesting Hobby

BY MYRTLE STIEFFEL

I honestly believe this is the hardest task I have ever agreed to undertake.

To be utterly frank, I've never stopped to consider that the many happy hours I've spent just "doing things" might be called "hobbies." However, according to a friend, they ARE hobbies.

MY HOBBY is enjoying and loving everything and everybody with no exceptions. My first and only hobby has always been PEOPLE. As a youngster of three tender, but convincing years, I realized that PEOPLE were very essential to everyone's happiness. In order to make friends with so much hokum, DID I really go to pains? Yes, it was necessary, at times, to be very amine.

But only to myself did I ever admit a hobby become a pleasure. I answered, "Just read me and read me WELL."

Other people thought or said meant very little to yours truly. I answered, "Each time a difficult person entered into my small realm of life, there was only to myself."

Now, thru the years, I have never always prevented a definite problem. I regretted the tremendous task I seem to have been born to accomplish, namely to love all people and find deep fulfillment.

My left ear says a lot, but because my Grandmother, an extreme disciplinarian and a reticent person, tried very hard by yanking my ear, to pull me back into the Dark Ages, of hate and evil. God rest her soul. I am quite sure that if I had been a less well-adjusted child, NOT determined to attack people all of us, that today I would most definitely be a miserable, complaining old crow.

I can read your mind now, dear reader, AND my friend. You are wondering if all the above is just very essential to everyone's happiness. In order to make friends with so much hokum, DID I really go to pains? Yes, it was necessary, at times, to be very amine.

But only to myself did I ever admit a hobby become a pleasure. I answered, "Just read me and read me WELL."

Other people thought or said meant very little to yours truly. I answered, "Each time a difficult person entered into my small realm of life, there was only to myself."

Now, thru the years, I have never always prevented a definite problem. I regretted the tremendous task I seem to have been born to accomplish, namely to love all people and find deep fulfillment.

ADDRESSES ROTARY

At the Feb. 10 meeting of the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club the program presented a program in connection with the 44th anniversary of Boy Scouting. Special guests were T. F. Monti and James Edgingame, local Boy Scout leaders.

Guest speaker was Harry Maxfield, long connected with Scouting and also active in rotary affairs in this district. Maxfield is the husband of the former Miss Ruth Porter, a resident of this city some years ago. Maxfield spoke on the opportunities Scouting offers and the need for continual adult leadership.

He emphasized that the Rotarian slogan "He profits most who serves best" can be applied to no better field than Scouting and that the Boy Scout principles of service to others make the Scout of today the Rotarian of tomorrow.

As necessary that I become interested in whatever he or she was most interested in. Consequently, my hobby has had a way of leading my growth and of developing capacities and abilities I never knew I possessed.

I humbly give thanks to my Maker for the beautiful faith he bore into me to have in others.

I leave you as confused as possible. I'm certain. Perhaps I have disappointed you by not discussing a definite hobby. Perhaps I should have written how the gift of one Nanny goat to my small son, has led to my having to fence in forty acres of land, lest my neighbor's lovely flowers become goat's milk. (Forgot to mention that another friend gave my son a Billy goat and we now have sixteen.)

Perhaps but man was created first and a Man is as he thinks. The outer man being but an expression of the inner Man.

I sincerely doubt that the paper will permit the publication of this rule, but should it be published, I shall now have another hobby. You see my friend is a writer.

Got a hobby? If so, why not share it with readers of the HANCOCK COUNTY EAGLE through this column?

You'll enjoy writing about your favorite hobby, and you, friends will enjoy reading about it.

And remember—a $10 award will be given for the hobby judged most interesting submitted before midnight, March 31.

LEGION CHILD WELFARE PROGRAM EXPLAINED TO YOUTH COUNCIL

Lucien W. Kidd, Commander of the Clement R. Bontemps Post 139 was invited by Mrs. C. C. McDonald Sr. recently to appear before the Hancock County Youth Council to make a report of the extensive Child Welfare Program being sponsored by the American Legion. His report was of Legion activities on the national, state and local levels.

Commander Kidd's report noted the many contributions made by the local Post to other Youth Organizations such as the Youth Center here and at Kiln, Boy and Girl Scout activities. He mentioned the Legion's free public pier and sand beach. He noted the Legion's street safety program, the junior fishing rodco, the Armistice Day parade, oratorical contest, toy fund, Christmas baskets, the Legion's gifts and dedications of American flags and recordings of the National Anthem. He also told of the outstanding work being done by the Special School Americanism Committee.

The Legion's program of emergency relief was explained to the Council. Kidd pointed out that this program was not publicized. He told of several cases where the Legionnaires had given immediate relief and in some cases had continued the relief several weeks.

This program is carried out by five Legionnaires appointed by the Commander, but not known to the Legionnaires themselves. They do not report names of beneficiaries but only the circumstances. They are not limited to the amount of relief permitted.

Commander Kidd pointed out that this method of secrecy saved the recipient from any embarrassment in accepting the emergency aid afforded by the Legionnaires.

Infant Baptized

James Clark Wagner, infant son of Captain and Mrs. Lewis Wagner, was baptized Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Christ Episcopal Church.

The Rev. Charles Johnson, pastor, officiated at the service. Sponsors for the baby were Mrs. John Griffin, Dr. John Griffin and Mrs. Wagner's brother, James Clark of Gulfport.

Present at the service were the maternal grandparents of the child, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Clark of Gulfport and Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Samuel.

KILN LOSES TO ORANGE GROVE

Kiln lost to Orange Grove in the District 8 B-BB finals at Beaumont last Saturday night.

Kiln trailed 37-41 going into the last quarter and went ahead with seconds left, only to have Orange Grove's Jerry Rouse sink a last second field goal to tie the score 49-49. Rouse was the player that brought twelve hundred fans to their feet in the finals of the Pass Christian Tournament as he stole the ball and made a seam.

Orange Grove scored nine points in the overtime to Kiln's six. Larry Lohrer, Louis Garriga and Roy Shively led Kiln's scoring as each tallied 15 points. Clarence Stephenson netted 24 for the winners.

Kiln will go along to the next tournament as the number two team.

In the girls' finals Agricola dropped Wiggins 43-31.

The next Tournament will be for the South Mississippi title.

BAY SENIORS TO OPEN LOCAL BASEBALL SEASON SUNDAY AT 2:00 P. M.

The Bay Seniors will open their 1954 baseball season playing the Pass Christian Sea Scouts at the Pass Christian ball park this Sunday at 2:00.

MISS JOANN LANG BECOMES BRIDE OF MR. JOHN CASSIDY

The marriage of Miss Joann Lang, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lang, to John Cassidy, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Cassidy of New Orleans was solemnized this morning in Our Lady of the Gulf Church.

The wedding service took place at a 9:00 Mass. Father John Robinson performed the double ring ceremony. The church was decorated with white flowers and palms. Professor Hemmrich played the wedding music. During the service Miss Veronica Mohr sang Schubert's "Ave Maria."

The bride entered the Church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She was exquisitely dressed in a white satin gown made with full skirt of inverted pleats falling into a train. The bodice was fitted with a V neckline of embroidered lace outlined in seed pearls. Long fitted sleeves pointed gracefully over the hands and a fingertip length veil of nylon illusion was held to the head with a tarras of orange blossoms. The bride carried a prayer book to which an exquisite white orchid and lilies of the valley were attached.

The bride chose her sister, Miss Joycecelle Lang maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Andrew Scaffidi, Miss Margelo Damborn and Miss Alta Cassidy, sister of the bridegroom.

The bride's attendants were attired in matching frocks of powder blue taffeta. From strapless bodices with attached stoles covering the shoulders, the graceful princess lines of the gowns fell into floor sweeping flared skirts. Double hair folds of self matching material on the skirts finished with large flat bows to the back of the dresses completed the trim. Headpieces were fashioned of yellow taffeta leaves, and they carried bouquets of yellow gladioli and yellow taffeta leaves shaped to form crescents.

The bridegroom chose his father as best man. Groomsmen included James Cassidy, a brother, William George Plaquemine, La., and Russell Simons of New Orleans.

Following the Church ceremonies a reception was held at Hotel Reed.

LAYMEN'S LEAGUE OF EPISCOPAL CHURCH HAS DINNER MONDAY

The Laymen's League of Christ Episcopal Church entertained Monday night with a dinner at Hotel Reed. Bishop W. Blair Robert, South Dakota Diocese, was guest speaker.

Bishop Robert is a missionary with the Indians of that region. He spoke at length on the customs and needs of the American Indian, and closed his address with the reading and singing of a hymn composed by a converted Indian.

Wives of members were invited guests. About forty were present at the dinner.

The Reverend Charles Johnson, pastor of Christ Episcopal Church, introduced Bishop Robert, and the Bishop's brother a Chaplain at Keesler Field, who will conduct the Good Friday Services at Christ Church in Bay St. Louis.

Potted palms were used in the dining room of the hotel and an arrangement of foliage was centered on the table where the Bishop was seated.

WAVELAND WANDERINGS

BY GEORGETTE HALL

Another in the series of King Parties which have been keeping the teen-agers of Waveland busy on Friday nights, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Brockman Sr. on Beach Blvd. on Friday evening, Feb. 19. Hostess for the party was Miss Lynne Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hall.

Lynne was queen of the party and Freddie Bourgeois, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bourgeois, was king. The group played games, danced and enjoyed the refreshments which consisted of sandwiches, soft drinks, king cake and candy. Eddie Bourgeois got the king cake pean and will host the next party this Friday night.

Among Lynne's guests were: Barbara Vulture, Joan Villere, Edward Collier, Ronnie Favre, Geraldine Bourgeois, Ronnie Bourgeois, Larry Mailhot, Jean Martin, Betty Martin, Patsy Bowman, Hamilton Guenard, Arthemese Nadeau.

Marie Perion, J. D. Bourgeois, Frances Bronski, Dark Bronski, Marilyn Norman and Kenneth Steiffel. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Guenard Jr., Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Brockman Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hall.

On Wednesday, Feb. 16, Miss Ann Jenkins, accompanied by Misses Joyce and Pearl Pernicaro, Sue Smith, Mary Palmer, Mrs. Beverly James and Mrs. Lucien Pernicaro, motored to New Orleans where they were the special guests of Henry Dupre on his radio program, "The Downbustlers." Mr. Dupre interviewed Ann, Joyce and Pearl. After the program the group enjoyed shopping and lunch. Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Jenkins of Waveland, and is a senior at Bay High School.

Mr. and Mrs. George Digby had as their guests over the week-end Mr. Mel Parnell, pitcher for the Boston Red Sox and Mr. and Mrs. Putzy Caballero. Mr. Caballero plays baseball for the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Digbys and their guests attended the dance at the Top Hat Saturday evening. Seen at their table also were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Torgerson, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter James Phillips.

Mrs. Catherine Brockman was once again selected on the All Tournament team at Picayune. This was the fifth consecutive year that she has made the all star team. Medals were awarded for this team as well as silver basketballs to those team members in the final game.

Mrs. Brockman is a member of the Dadeaux Packeretts, independent team sponsored by Curtis Dadeaux of Gulfport.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wilson and sons, Joannie and Bill, of New Orleans, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hall Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Elizabeth Courge of Lake Shore is inviting all of her Waveland friends to attend her open house birthday party to be held at her home in Lakeshore Sunday afternoon from 3 p.m. until 7 p.m. She asks that her guests do not bring birthday gifts.

Members of the Baptist Mission enjoyed a group of veterans from the Veterans Hospital in Biloxi on Tuesday afternoon of this week. They met in the new Baptist Church on Jeff Davis Avenue. Everyone enjoyed singing and delicious refreshments. Dan Byers and W. M. Bozeman acted as masters of ceremonies.

Ladies in charge of entertaining were Mrs. A. Barber, Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Travis Bozeman, Mrs. Asa Peterson, Mrs. Betty Rose, Mrs. W. Peterson, Mrs. LaRocca, Miss Marie Antunica and Mrs. W. M. Bozeman.

Guests over the week-end of Mr. and Mrs. Rode Bordages were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Carrio and daughter Debra, of New Orleans.

Mrs. Mabel Kerner spent the week-end in her home on Favre Street where she entertained several guests from New Orleans.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Bozeman spent Friday in Baton Rouge, La. and Monday in Covington, La.

Baptist services are held at the following hours each week in the Baptist Church on Jeff Davis Ave. 9:00 a.m. Sunday School 9:45 a.m. Morning Worship

Kit and Kaboodle

BY KIT MICHAEL

While in Houston, Texas recently, it was this reporter's pleasure to interview a nationally famous figure for the purpose of publication. A visiting fireman was to speak. A wonderful person, he was enthusiastic, helpful and eager to make my guest interview a success.

After asking all the usual questions one asks while interviewing, I strayed from the beaten path with this question: "Will you kindly tell me why and how you manage to keep going higher and higher in your profession each year? Usually when people establish themselves professionally, they are content to coast and bask in the warmth of their popularity. While in your case, you complete one artistic achievement and off you go into another. Some artists seldom repeat a great work and never seem to go any further. In your case you just keep plunging right along, busy all the time."

His reply was hardly what I expected. But worth repeating, as it has given me so much to think about.

My dear friend, one does not achieve success by listening to the glowing and endearing phrases received frequently from family and friends. Quite the contrary. In my own particular case I owe whatever success I have enjoyed to my enemies. God bless them and give them a long life.

You see, a family and good friend are always admiring, always encouraging and attempting to inspire. What you really need is a good stiff jolt of criticism. That's the stuff that keeps you on your toes. My friends have given me words of encouragement. But... oh, those blessed others... it has been their nasty, snide criticisms that have kept me and my feathers ruffled—that have kept my nose in books studying, kept me working into the wee small hours of the morning when my good friends would have had me sleeping comfortably.

Even today, with a certain amount of good work behind me, it is the same thing. When I can create a piece of work that will make me the recipient of their envy I know I'm in for it. For they will get busy and come up with something even better. For that reason I have to keep busy, keep working to keep my place in this mad race. It is a mad race, but it keeps me interested in my work and adds quite a bit of spice to what might ordinarily be a dull life.

If the above is not a suggestion for success—what is it?

Here's a bit of decorating magic that will give any room a lift.

Mirrors are making magic in every home. A long, narrow room can be made to appear wider by mirroring one long wall completely. A small, dark hall seems larger and lighter when one wall carries a handsome, oversized mirror over a narrow console table or a chest of drawers. A cut-up window wall may be brought into a harmonious whole by filling in the space between windows with mirror—then planning drapery treatment that incorporates the entire area. A large mirror over the mantle reflects the room and its lighting, picks up and repeats color accents to aid in creating a balanced distribution of color. And best of all, a mirror duplicates the enchanting color and form of flowers set before it, enhances their beauty, doubles their effectiveness—gives you twice the pleasure and enjoyment from each reflected flower and leaf.

A mirror skillfully placed will keep Madame Housewife on her toes. What woman can stand a reflection that does not give her ego the lift so necessary for a happy heart? Not many.

This column would like to congratulate the hard working Garden Clubbers who have been sparking the "Litterbug" drive. Although a tremendous task, their "do-or-die" attitude has done wonders for this area. Too bad the idea cannot be kept alive on an all-round-the-year basis. It is worth trying. The results are remarkable.

Doctor Chappell's findings on High School Drinking is food for serious thinking. Would suggest it as a "must" on your reading list.

Here's a wonderful new appetizer. It can be prepared days ahead of their need. Prepare them and freeze them. You'll hit a new high in food treats if you serve your guests Pickled Shrimp.

2½ lbs. fresh or frozen shrimp
½ cup celery tops
¼ cup mixed pickling spices
3½ teaspoons salt
2 cups sliced onions
7 or 8 bay leaves

Cover shrimp with boiling water; add the remaining ingredients. Cover and simmer for 5 minutes. Drain; cool with cold water. Peel shells from shrimp and de vein under cold water. Alternate cleaned shrimp with onion in shallow dish. Add bay leaves. Marinate at least 24 hours in Pickling Marinade.

PICKLING MARINADE

Combine
1¼ cups salad oil
¾ cup white vinegar
2½ tablespoons capers and juice
2½ teaspoons celery seed
1½ teaspoons salt
Dash of Tabasco sauce

Mix well. Pour over shrimp. Cover, chill. Pickled shrimp will keep at least a week in refrigerator.

How often do we throw brick-bats? Too often. Bouquets? Not often enough.

That's why this column wants to throw a big bouquet toward our telephone operators and their supervisors. It's about time they were given a pat on the back for their service. And it is service—twenty-four hours a day. You need only lift your phone to verify that.

Granted there is a certain amount of cut-offs, disconnections, etc. they are not machines, and are bound to make an error now and then. But as a whole, they are a fine, sincere group, who earnestly desire to serve you accurately and speedily.

Recently our phone was troubled by a buzzing and ringing during any and all calls. It was annoying to say the least. But a pleasant and courteous explanation from the operator to the effect that the line was disturbed because linemen were working on the cable. It was regrettable but would clear up as soon as the repair was completed—would I excuse it please? She even tried making other connections, not once, but several times.

All the high blood-pressure, the anger that MIGHT have been brought on by the disturbance, was dispelled immediately. Our operators are sincere about their work. Instead of snapping their heads off for some minor error, why not hold on for a few seconds give them a chance to improve the situation. It certainly is worth it.

Another thing, it isn't always the easiest job in the world, sitting at a board talking politely to some of the characters they meet. Nine out of ten people who pick up a phone to make a call do so with a subconscious chip on their shoulder. It's a proven fact.

Next time, take it easy, talk pleasantly and you'll find out for yourself just how good good service can be.

To the Bay St. Louis office—many thanks, keep up the good work. You're doing a wonderful job.

Party Held At Hotel Reed

A delightful party of last week was the brunch followed by canasta at the Hotel Reed on Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Walter Hays, Mrs. Roy Dennis and Mrs. Herbert Ratenburg were joint hostesses.

A centerpiece of red roses with light red tapers in white holders adorned the attractive table where the thirty-six guests were seated.

IT'S NOT THE SIZE THAT'S MOST IMPORTANT!

And so it is with your credit. It's not the size or the number of purchases you make that counts most, but the way you handle the credit you have been given. Remember that PROMPT PAYMENT is the most important thing in credit. It's just "common sense" to help yourself by paying EXACTLY as agreed.
